12. Best practice is to keep it fairly brief. Once you've finished your message, click "Post" at the bottom, with "News Feed" checked. You will also see an option to check "Story," which will place your post into your "Story." All "Stories" are deleted 24 hours after being posted, so it's usually best to keep it in the "News Feed."

13. The Missionaries in our Stake were given guidelines to follow as they began using Facebook to share the Gospel with others. These guidelines are included here for your review. You may find these guidelines helpful as you look to more effectively share the Gospel online.

- A. Always remember the missionary purpose
 - a. Ask yourself:
 - i. How does this post help invite others to come unto Christ?
 - ii. How does this post help find, teach, and baptize those in my area?
- B. Use common sense
 - a. Trust in the guidelines given to help us as missionaries do our very best.
- C. Pray before you post
 - a. Align your will with the Lord's to be the best tool you can be.
 - b. Ask yourself:
 - i. Who of my new friends (or member or less active member) would benefit from this post?
 - ii. Will this post help answer a question I've been asked before?
- D. Always ask a question and extend an invitation
 - a. When making captions, always ask a question that will help others ponder (such as "why would God allow COVID-19?" or "what's our purpose in life?" or "are families really forever?") and have a desire to act.
 - b. Many people desire the truth, but "know not where to find it." Always add an action such as-- "contact/message us," "find out more at [insert link]."

- E. Use music that will invite the Spirit
 - a. The Church has put out music that will invite the Holy Ghost into their lives through that post.
 - b. Only use music in the Gospel Media, the Sacred Music app, or anything found in churchofjesuschrist.org
- F. "Those things that are sacred ought to stay sacred"
 - a. Ask yourself:
 - i. Will this post help someone feel the Spirit?
 - ii. Am I trivializing something sacred?
- G. Use your talent and creativity to create wholesome, appropriate content
 - a. The Lord has prepared you for this time, and He knows that your specific talents and skills can and will move the work forward.
 - b. Ask yourself:
 - i. How can I use my talents to fulfill my missionary purpose today?
- H. When creating videos, keep them short
 - a. If you are creating a video, try to keep them under 3 minutes. Only 10-15 minutes when doing a live video.
 - b. This will help maintain the attention of the audience, and they won't just scroll past your content.
